Dear Amy Taylor

I just tried to comment on the above planning application for online, despite entering everything as requested it would not let me submit my application (see screen shot below) you may want to check what's going on with that as a lot of people will be trying to object and may be put off by the system not working!

So as I can't do it online I am submitting my objection by email:

I strongly object to the Europa Gas planning application in Burniston, North Yorkshire, NY/2025/0030/ENV, for the following reasons:

1. Pollution: The proposed development would significantly increase pollution levels in the area, affecting both air and water quality. It would also significantly increase noise pollution. This poses a threat to local wildlife and human health.
2. Climate Change: Expanding fossil fuel operations contradicts efforts to combat climate change and undermines national and global environmental goals. This application should not be allowed for this reason alone.
3. Industrialisation: The project would contribute to the over-industrialisation of an otherwise rural area, disrupting its character and increasing pressure on local infrastructure particularly the roads and mini roundabout by the Jolly Sailors cannot cope with an extra 1054 HGVs in 259 days.
4. Tourism: The development would negatively impact the local tourism industry, which thrives on the natural beauty of the area.
5. Earth Tremors & Cliff Erosion: There is a significant risk of earth tremors and further erosion of our beautiful cliffs, threatening both the environment and nearby communities. My brother and his wife live in Preston and were negatively impacted by the earthquakes caused by the fracking site near them before fracking was banned for this reason.

Whether it is called propane squeeze or fracking the drilling site is above a major fault system which means it is more like to create these earth tremors.

For these reasons, I urge the rejection of this planning application.

Kind regards

Helen Peterson
