Dear Amy Taylor,

Europa Oil & Gas have now submitted plans to drill for gas within metres of houses in Burniston.

I am writing to you to advise my objection to this planning application.

This is an industrial development close to a rural village and will potentially involve 20 years of heavy industrial activity and activity that is fracking in all but name and nature. Initially 37 weeks of noise, pollution, light flaring, risk of pollution and the Scalby road blighted with 1000s of HGV journeys.

How does this help the climate and the UK's commitment to reducing fossil fuel usage?

If this is allowed to go ahead will mark the death knell of the move to keep these islands on course to be fossil fuel free. More and more requests to drill will be sought in other parts of the country!

This particular site is above a major underground fault system and is very close to heritage coastline and a national park. It will have a very detrimental impact upon local tourism!

Please consider all of this very carefully and do the right thing by the people and businesses in the area who will suffer the most.

Thanks and best regards,

Chris Taylor
